Business skills and acumen have never been more important to university graduates, regardless of your field of study.

This workshop will provide non-business students with an appreciation and exposure to the key pillars of business: Strategy, Finance, Marketing, and HR, through an interactive and hands-on 2-day workshop that will open your minds to possible interesting career options which you may not have considered otherwise.

Following the experiential / problem-based learning paradigm, you will have the opportunity to discuss and solve real life business problems. You will also get to put your new skills to the test in a hands-on, interactive, online business simulation.

Dates: 8 & 9 May 2017

Time: 2 days; 9am – 5pm

Venue: Training Rooms 1 & 2
Yusof Ishak House Level 1

Fees: $35

Seats are very limited – sign up early!

Register at the Centre for Future-ready Graduates (Yusof Ishak House Level 2)

* Undergraduates & Postgraduates welcome

Workshop Facilitator: Jonathan Kwan

Jon has close to 15 years of experience as a career coach, management consultant, and currently as an external career advisor for the world’s top universities, including Cambridge, INSEAD, HKUST & NUS. In addition, Jon is a Guest Lecturer at the NUS Business School. Originally from Toronto, Jon spent 7 years with one of the top consulting practices in the world, advising clients in the financial services industry, retail, consumer goods, manufacturing, hi-tech and the public sector.