OUR CAMPUSES

KENT RIDGE CAMPUS
NUS’ main campus since 1980, the sprawling 150-hectare Kent Ridge Campus hosts most of the University’s academic, research and administrative facilities. It is also a bustling hub of student life, with student residences, sports facilities and venues for arts and cultural activities.

University Town (UTown) — an extension of the Kent Ridge Campus — offers a unique residential college concept as well as a host of educational and recreational spaces for interaction, peer learning and personal development. UTown is also home to Yale-NUS College, Singapore’s first liberal arts college with a full residential programme.

BUKIT TIMAH CAMPUS
The Bukit Timah Campus houses the Faculty of Law and the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy. The colonial-style buildings date back to 1928 when NUS’ predecessor institution, Raffles College, was established.

OUTRAM CAMPUS
Located among many of the nation’s key medical institutions, the Outram Campus houses the Duke-NUS Medical School. Duke-NUS’ innovative medical education programme with a distinctive research focus is designed to develop medical leaders in research, education and patient care.

The Lee Kong Chian Collection consists of a wide representation of Chinese materials; the South and Southeast Asian Collection holds a range of works from Indian classical sculptures to modern pieces; and the Ng Eng Teng Collection is a donation from the late Singapore sculptor and Cultural Medallion recipient.

The historic Baba House is home to NUS Museum’s fourth collection: the Straits Chinese Collection.

The 82-hectare Singapore Botanic Gardens, home to a myriad of plant species, is Singapore’s first UNESCO World Heritage Site and the third botanic gardens in the world to be inscribed. Established in 1822 by Sir Stamford Raffles, the founder of modern Singapore, the Gardens has played a significant role in agricultural development in the region through cultivating potentially useful plants in the early years. From 1928, it spearheaded orchid breeding and currently plays a key role in Singapore’s greening programme by introducing plants of horticultural and botanical interest.

FLAG DAY

The annual Flag Day organised by NUS Students’ Union raises funds for up to 23 beneficiaries under Singapore’s Community Chest, benefiting the elderly, children, families and individuals with disabilities. More than 7,000 freshmen and senior students seek donations from the public on this day.

Events during the campaign included:
• A lunch box rental programme to reduce disposable plastic box usage

GREEN WARDROBES

Big wardrobes can be found at various locations around the University to encourage clothes recycling rather than disposal.

PLASTIC BAG TAX SCHEME

A 10-cent charge per plastic bag has been imposed to encourage consumers to switch from using plastic bags to recyclable bags at canteens and bookstores. The tax proceeds go to the NUS Sustainability Fund that supports environmental projects run by NUS students.

NUS GOES LITE

• A food donation programme to reduce food waste in two NUS Halls of Residence
• Bento D’lite Café, which envisioned a sustainable eatery. Participants were given tips and suggestions on how they could reduce food and plastic usage during mealtimes.

CAMPUS LIVING

HALLS OF RESIDENCE

Living in the Halls of Residence is akin to having another family in school. As everyone is just a knock on the door away, all the late-night suppers and “mugging” (a colloquial term for studying hard) sessions foster a strong sense of camaraderie.

The Halls are also known for their vibrant co-curricular activities as well as their rich history and culture. Each Hall is led by a Hall Master and elected student committee.

The six Halls of Residence are:

- EUSOFF HALL

- KENT RIDGE HALL

- KING EDWARD VII HALL

- RAFFLES HALL

- SHEARES HALL

- TEMASEK HALL

STUDENT RESIDENCES

Live with an international community of students in residences. Residences offer more privacy and tend to be quieter than halls. Currently, NUS has three residences.

- PGP HOUSE

- UTOWN RESIDENCE

RESIDENTIAL COLLEGES

Combining the vibrancy of campus living with exciting multidisciplinary academic programmes, residential colleges offer students an integrated residential learning environment. Each residential college is led by a Rector, a Master and a team of faculty fellows, who define each College’s academic tone and character.

The University Scholars Programme is housed in Cinnamon College, while the University Town College Programme is offered by three colleges — College of Alice & Peter Tan, Residential College 4 and Tembusu College.

Ridge View Residential College is NUS’ first residential college outside of University Town. It specially caters to first-year students from Engineering, Arts and Social Sciences, Science, Computing, as well as Design and Environment.
