

Joey brings with her more than 15 years of experience in the sales, marketing and business development of information systems, business consulting and financial services. Her portfolio of clients span across industries in the banking, transportation, manufacturing, government, public utilities, education and more recently the local entrepreneurial industry in Singapore.

She has been based in Hong Kong for nearly 11 years covering the North Asian region before returning to Singapore in end 2003. She is also a Certified Management Consultant (CMC) accredited by the International Council of Management Consulting Institutes (ICMCI). She is currently working as a business development director with Ernst & Young Singapore.