“I trust that SoTL-Asia is the right platform to realise significant knowledge advancement in university teaching and learning.”

Chwen Jen is Dean of the Centre for Applied Learning and Multimedia (CALM), Universiti Malaysia Sarawak (UNIMAS). As the Dean, she is given the responsibility to spearhead the integration of technology into our university teaching and learning as well as implementing various strategies (including SoTL) to advance the university teaching and learning.

UNIMAS is in the midst of enculturing SoTL among academics as a crucial move to enhance student learning. She is seeing the collaborative effort in SoTL practices and collective effort in disseminating SoTL outcomes among academics in this region which will bring more significant knowledge advancement in university teaching and learning as it takes into account the distinct characteristics of our learners and learning affordances.

She shares with us the UNIMAS SoTL Bulletin, which can be found here.
