

Round-island sail for a good cause

(From left) Undergraduates Chantelle Chen, Shaun Ho, Wong Riji, Loh Jia Yi, Matthew Lau and Amanda Koh from the National University of Singapore (NUS) completed a voyage around Singapore yesterday using wind and sail power to raise money for the KK Women's and Children's Hospital (KKH) Health Fund. Medical students Loh, Lau and Chen had witnessed families of children with chronic illnesses struggling with healthcare costs while on placement. They then roped in their friends from the NUS sailing team for the SailSG Challenge to raise money to help these families ease their financial burden. The fundraising campaign ends on Dec 31.

To donate, visit www.giving.sg/campaigns/sailsgchallenge. PHOTO: NUS/KEITH TAN