

Transforming University Libraries Leadership & Innovation Programme

Blooming Knowledge, Seeding Leadership, Growing Communities

TULLIP is designed to enhance critical competencies in leadership and innovation needed to drive positive change and transformation in university libraries successfully.

This is an immersive experiential programme designed for library executives, academics and other information professionals in Southeast Asia and beyond to be equipped with tools necessary to drive innovation and accelerate digital innovation through leadership. At the same time, the programme brings together academic libraries in Southeast Asia to partner NUS Libraries in the development of a knowledge hub for multidisciplinary collections on Southeast Asia.

What makes TULLIP unique is the integration of real world experiences, a global perspective, and the research to help you succeed. During the programme, we provide perspectives on leadership and success stories on how to lead transformations in academic libraries using AI and cutting-edge technologies. We combine this practical knowledge with the latest research to guide your transformation journey to the next level.
